Summer 2022 Edition

“Satisfaction of one's curiosity is one of the greatest sources of happiness in life.” - Linus Pauling

At summer camp, participants, volunteers & staff members alike cultivate their curiosity by exploring the great outdoors! Campers go fishing for the first time, fly kites and race hand-built boats through the creek. Our curiosity inspires us to learn more about ourselves.

Creating Meaningful Experiences

On the drive to Camp, Findlay's eyes are peeled searching for the flocks of wild turkeys that occasionally strut through the forest running through Summer Day Camp. Fin's mom can't help but thank camp for fostering Fin's sense of wonder so they can share moments like these together.

Camp opened a new world to 8-year-old Findlay, a camper with autism, from his first time wading through a creek guided by our nature specialist to casting a line at the fishing pond in the hopes of wrangling a smallmouth bass. This will be Fin's 3rd summer with Stepping Stones, a place where he's been able to develop an enthusiasm for the plants and animals he encounters. His mom relays that counselors encouraged him to learn and grow in himself as he explored the forested campus with his friends. Uncovering salamanders hiding in the mud and spotting the elusive turkey hiding just beyond the trees are just a few of the experiences that make summers with Stepping Stones so meaningful to Fin and his family.

A Happier Place

King James, who attends our Summer Overnight Staycation program, is passionate about the outdoors. He loves spending his free time going on walks, listening to the birds, or driving "Mr. Deere," his riding lawnmower.

Eight years ago, James & his sister Cathy moved to Cincinnati and discovered Camp Allyn. James' favorite memory at Stepping Stones is the very first time he caught a catfish! This sparked a brand new interest in fishing for James. Every year when he goes to Camp Allyn, he talks about how excited he is to catch an even bigger fish. James also likes the hot air balloon rides and playing basketball there with his friends.

"Stepping Stones plays such a huge role in making our community a happier place," said Cathy. The Overnight Staycation program has given her & her husband much-needed time to rest and recharge while James enjoys an adventurous summer in the outdoors.

The Beauty of Nature

“Stepping Stones gave me the opportunity to teach others about the beauty of nature,” said Anna, Nature Specialist at Summer Day Camp.

Anna has a heart for service and cultivating curiosity, so it’s no surprise that her summer at Stepping Stones was one of her “favorite summers to date.” She started out as a volunteer and joined the summer day camp staff in 2021. As the nature specialist, Anna led groups in outdoor activities such as making pinecone bird feeders, flying kites and growing beanstalks. One of her favorite activities was taking campers down to the creek. Campers got to search for new plants, rocks and fossils. They built small boats and raced them down the stream. The water was also a great way to cool off in the summer heat!

The campers pushed Anna to cultivate her own curiosity too. Whenever campers found a new bug or plant, they wanted to know more about it. This encouraged Anna to learn more about the organisms in our ecosystem. She would complete her research and teach the campers what she learned the following day.
